NEW MOVEMENT.

Convention of Irish-Americans at Chicago.

Discuss the Condition of Affairs on Other Side of Ocean.

Looking to an Irish Republic as a Result of the Convention.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. While waiting for delegates to arrive at the Irish convention, fully a hundred cablegrams and domestic despatches wishing success to the new movement were received and some of the more significant were subsequently read to the convention. In calling the convention to order, J. J. O'Connell, chairman of the local committee, said it was a spontaneous congress of people of the Irish born race. Irish-Americans were dissatisfied with the parliamentary campaign on the other side and of the further fact that the parliamentary party had betrayed its supporters and proved faithless to its trust.

This was greeted with loud applause, which was renewed when the speaker concluded by prophesying that out of this convention would be born and established an Irish republic built on the plans of this great republic.

Ex-Congressman John F. Finerty, of this city, was greeted with prolonged applause on being presented as the temporary chairman. The original and subsequent calls were read by John P. Sutton, of New York, secretary of the Irish National League of America, together with a resume of the telegraphic despatches.

As Secretary Sutton read the cablegrams he omitted the names of the signers. A delegate from New York demanded to know who signed the messages. The secretary brusquely responded: "None of your business. The men who signed these messages are not going to expose themselves to the British government."

This was applauded by a portion of the convention and there were no further interruptions.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE

From a More Serious Railroad Wreck.

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 24. A north bound extra freight on the southern division of the Boston and Maine crashed into the rear of freight 251 near Bleachery station at 3 A. M. Eighteen loaded coal and box cars went off the track and were badly wrecked. The engine of the extra was badly damaged. The wreck caught fire and the caboose and one car of the regular freight were consumed by the flames, which were extinguished by the Lowell fire department. No one was injured. A regular freight was standing at the station taking on cars and was behind time. The main tracks were blocked but delay to traffic was slight, trains using the siding.

FELL FROM ROOF.

Hot Weather Drove Man to the Roof and his Death.

SALEM, Mass., Sept. 24. Thomas Casey, thirty years old, unmarried, last night fell from the roof of a house at the corner of Turner and Derby streets, receiving internal injuries which resulted fatally this morning. He had climbed upon the roof to get fresh air and slipped and fell.

VERY FAST TIME.

The New York Central Breaks a World's Record.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 24. The New York Central has again broken the record for fast time. This morning, a special consisting of the three coaches and drawn by engine No. 999, left Albany at 5 o'clock and arrived here at 8 12, thus making the run of 148 miles in 132 minutes. This beats the world's record for this distance.

THE VALKYRIE'S RETURN.

She Will Start for England This Morning.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie bid farewell to Erie Basin this morning. She went out of the basin in tow of the tug boat. It is said she will be taken to Bay Ridge and will lie at anchor there until to-morrow morning when she will start on her voyage back to England. Captains Cranfield and Sycamore were on board this morning. They have a crew of about twenty men for the return voyage. Navigators Henderson and Howiston will also make the trip back on the Valkyrie.

DEADLY GRADE CROSSING.

One Woman Killed and Two Others Will Die.

RED BANK, N. J., Sept. 24. A party of five colored women and a white driver in a wagon were run into by a freight train at Little Silver last night. One woman was killed and two others so badly injured that they will die.

NOTHING TO SAY.

Gen. Burns Refuses to Say if he will be Candidate for Senator.

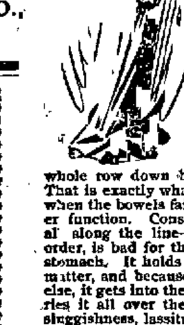
NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 24. General Charles H. Burns, who has just returned from Europe, said today that he had not considered the United States Senatorial nomination. He had nothing to say as to whether he would be a candidate, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, and statements that he will enter the race as a candidate are unauthorized.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Two New York Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. Charles H. Burckett to-day made an assignment of the business carried on in the name of Kirby & Burckett, manufacturers of drugs in this city and Brooklyn. The liabilities are $60,000.

M. B. Ochs's Sons, manufacturers of sweaters, failed to-day. The liabilities are $35,000.



When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. When all of the parts do not work well together, none of them can work just right. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. It isn't necessary to be sick all over the body, in order that you may feel sick all over. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kidneys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and flatulence. It makes pimples and blotches and causes sick and bilious headaches. Nine-tenths of all human ailments are due to this one seemingly trivial cause. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They really cure it. Nobody becomes a slave to the use of the "Pellets." They cause no griping and are as mild as they are efficient. At any drug store. Look out for the druggist who tries to sell you something which he says is "just as good." There's nothing just as good. There is nothing that is nearly as good. Anybody who tells you there is is mistaken—or worse.

A GREAT MEDICAL WORK FREE.

We have arranged to give away absolutely free 500,000 of Dr. Pierce's great book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." It contains 1008 pages, and more than 300 illustrations. Some of them in colors. 680,000 copies of it have been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy. The profits on this immense sale have been used in publishing the present edition, a copy of which will be sent to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. BITTER DISCUSSION

Over Contested Seats in Democratic Convention.

Grace-Fairchild People at Last Given Fifth Representation.

The Tammany Organization Declared the Regular One.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 24. In the Democratic convention after the appointment of the usual committees, Dr. Edward Storck, of Buffalo, presented the following proposed excise plank which was referred to the committee on platform:

We ask of the State legislature to pass an uniform, reasonable license law, with a proviso for local option. The revenue of such licences granted shall go to the local poor funds of the cities and towns in the state. We further ask that the legislature amend and modify the Sunday laws now upon the statute books in such form that the enforcement thereof will not be oppressive or obnoxious to any class of our people and not prove destructive to any business interest in the state.

Such laws should be in conformity with the spirit of the constitution and laws of the country that guarantee personal liberty and equal rights to all citizens. The Sunday laws should designate the Sabbath as a day of devotion, rest and recreation. The provisions of the law should protect people in their religious exercises and devotion on the Sabbath day. The sale of liquor in any kind should be prohibited in all public places during church hours and divine service. After 2 the day shall be made free for the rest and recreation of the people in the interest of good morals and labor as well as capital.

At 1.50 the convention adjourned until 10 A. M. tomorrow.

The committee on resolutions met to-night. The session was protracted, the excise plank causing much debate. The committee adopted the platform with the exception of the excise plank.

The committee on contested seats after a heated and bitter discussion, in which Tammany leaders, Senator Hill and others took part, gave the Grace-Fairchild people a fifth representation. It was declared that the Tammany hall organization was the regular one.

Captain of a Schooner Meets Death At the Hands of Colored Mate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. Schooner John A. Dixon, loaded with lumber, was found drifting about near Cedar Point on the Potomac by a river steamer yesterday with the body of the skipper, Benj. F. Revelle, on board. The vessel left Norfolk several days ago with a cargo of lumber, consigned to Frank Libbey & Co., of this city. While the schooner was under way a quarrel arose between the captain and the colored mate, during which the captain drew a gun on him. This angered the negro and as the captain was coming out of the hatch he dealt him several blows on the head with a marlin spike. The captain did not die for some time after the fatal blows were struck. The mate, after assaulting the captain, remarked that he guessed he had better get out and packing his valise left in the schooner's small boat. All of the crew are negroes.

STRICT MEASURES

About to be Taken by Spanish Government

To Prevent Assistance Being Rendered the Cuban Rebels.

New Cutters to Prowl Along the Coast to Catch Smugglers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24. Within a month nine American built cutters under the Spanish flag will be on cruising duty on the north coast of Cuba. The late Admiral Barejo sent Lieut. Commander Triana to this city on special duty and orders for three cutters were placed very quietly. The last of the nine cutters was shipped to Cuba a few days ago. They were built especially for rapid inshore work. Their armament will be of a very destructive type. Smugglers of contraband of war will be their prey.

The Bereuger pontoon service and American cutters, in all 39 cuttees and floats, will add immensely to the effectiveness of the changes of the naval forces in Cuba. With these and double lines of war vessels cruising it is declared that all outside relief will be cut off from the rebels now in the central part of eastern Cuba.

An Auburn Woman Created Quite a Sensation Recently.

Androscoggin.

In making the excavations for the water main on North Main street, Auburn, the other day, the pick-axe of one man struck a relic of Indian housekeeping, being a long piece of stone resembling a rolling pin. It was not exactly round, however, and hardly as long as the ordinary pin now in use. The pin was broken nearly in the center by the blow. The relic is at the office of the water board.

A man attempted to get a wallet held by Miss Carrie Pettingill, of Auburn, as she was crossing the gully on Union street, between Manley and Summer streets, Friday evening. She hung to the wallet pluckily and screamed, and the miserable fellow became frightened and gave it up as a bad job.

An Auburn man made a peculiar discovery Saturday forenoon. While walking through the new Franklin Company roads on the Auburn hill-side he came upon a stump from the side of which grew a round tuft of bright green leaves. When he attempted to pull them out they yielded and he found that the roots were encased by a paper bag. Upon further examination he discovered that someone had left a bag of ripe oranges in the side of the stump, and that they had sprouted and grown during the summer.

One Lewiston partridge hunter shot a Plymouth Rock rooster in the woods.

An Auburn woman, living on Hampshire street, made something of a sensation in her community Saturday evening. She had been out making a call and was just entering the front door of her house. As she swung the door open she thought she saw a man, a stranger, standing in the hall. She spoke but the man did not answer, neither did he move. She screamed, but with the same result. She then ran to the street, screaming for help. The neighbors turned out and the police were summoned, but the man could not be found. One of the police officers, who was there, explains it thus: After the excitement had subsided, he was standing on the opposite side of the street, there being a light from a house on this side of the street shining on him. The door of the frightened woman's house chancing to be opened the light shone through the door, and his shadow at once appeared in the hallway, being very distinct. The officer says that some other man might have been standing in the light when the woman opened the door, with the same result as to the shadow.

The dedication exercises of Potter Academy at Sebago were held Monday. The late Dr. Joseph Potter, of Cincinnati, Ohio, bequeathed at his death about $40,000 to the town of Sebago, the income from the same to be used for the support of the institute, after the death of his widow.

The Maine Central is building a new watering tank at Belgrade on the shore of Lake Messalonskee. The old one burned awhile ago.

A Waterville contractor was the innocent cause of another man's getting into a comical difficulty not long ago. The contractor was making a trip to another Maine city and after he had left the train noticed that he had forgotten his overcoat and left it on board. When he discovered the fact the train was in too rapid motion for him to get on board and so he called out to a man who stood by the car window to throw out the coat. The man on the train did not hesitate an instant but fired the coat out and thought he had performed a kindly act until an irate fellow passenger and a stranger informed him that he had thrown the wrong coat. It took a good deal of explanation to smooth things over and it was two or three weeks before the overcoats finally reached their respective owners.

Somerset.

The new woolen mill at Fairfield is fast nearing completion, and ready to receive machinery. The building is a fine brick structure and will be an ornament to the place as well as a great help to many who were thrown out of employment by the burning of the saw mills. A building association has recently been formed, composed of enterprising citizens, and their first work is the erection of a three-story building with basement, 50x100 feet, to be occupied by the Foxcroft Upholstering Co., who will move their business and machinery to this place. This enterprise will give employment to about thirty men. The burning of the saw mills was a very serious blow and it has been hoped that the three destroyed will be rebuilt, but as yet only one has been repaired, that of N. Totman & Sons. On the whole the business outlook seems to be encouraging.

Fairfield Lodge, I. O. O. F., have bonded of N. Totman & Sons the lot adjoining Odd Fellows Block and contemplate the erection of a brick block for stores and offices. The matter is in the hands of a committee.

The water in the Saco river is so low that it is feared the Biddeford and Saco mills may have to shut down. The York is not running and yet the Laconia and Pepperell are using all the steam power available.

A Better Acquaintance.

The Board of Trade held a very successful session in this city yesterday and concluded the exercises with a splendid banquet at the Bangor House last evening. This morning the Bangor Board of Trade and their guests will take a special train furnished by the B. & A. Railroad Company through Manager Cram for a complimentary excursion to Aroostook. The local boards in the county have arranged a programme for the entertainment of the visitors and the trip promises to be one of much enjoyment as well as an instructive object lesson. To many it will be a first visit to this flourishing and enterprising section of the state and we can safely promise these a most pleasant time. Aroostook means to many people "way down" in the woods, but before they come to pass through the Hilltop Irequois Fort Kent and Caribou and see the fine farms that would do credit to any state and a credit to large city and find themselves surrounded with evidences of business enterprise, educational advantages and all other things which will then be a matter of surprise what an important factor it is bound to play in the future of the state. They can see the results of hard work and economy on the part of the men and women who have left the tracks of civilization and pushed into the forest and established homes of industry, thrift, comfort and elegance. They will return to bring the business men of this section of the State into more intimate and immediate contact with the grand old State of Aroostook.

A Democratic Bomb

One of the latest bombs that have been thrown into the Democratic camp since Carlisle took the stump, the one of Hiram McCormick, a prominent Democrat at Henderson last week, has been a damage. The head of that organization in this State are quoted as saying that Mr. McCormick's speech was considered by a number of Henderson County Democrats. Others, he hoped, had given utterance to similar views, but Mr. McCormick is introducing Colonel Bailey to the large audience, made the most startling remarks —

That a vote for any one strange to the ticket would have been worth the Democratic party to the State, and he would appear in person to contest a Republican who had a majority for Governor of several thousand now that I will be elected, with you. In reply to a question, he was very emphatic and said that he had conversed with thousands of Democrats in Kentucky, who have told him that they would not vote for Governor Hon. William O

Bailey's speeches everywhere have been of the most violent and when the news of the state took the above attitude of one who has long been a leader in the Democratic party it is the duty of the bolt informed politicians of that state will have little effect with the State officials at Frankfort. Democratic papers, which have broken the back of the allegations made. State Auditor Norman who is a candidate for Governor has been so mad at the Republicans that he could scarcely contain himself. He threatened to do at least one newspaper man bodily harm for exposing his methods and forbade him the Auditor's office.

Major Norman is the chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, and as such is moving heaven and earth to counteract the effect of Bradley's good work. It was a strong play he made in throwing three such big guns as Breckinridge, Lindsay and Berry into the breach in Northern Kentucky, but the speeches they made at the Barbecue in Grant County will have little effect in inducing sound money Democrats to vote for General Hardin. What makes the Democratic situation so much worse is that they will be unable to manipulate the polls this Fall as they have formerly done. Of the 119 county Judges in Kentucky 53 of them are Republicans. As the county Judges appoint the officers of election it will be seen that this is a significant fact.

Rhode Island Elections.

Thursday the Rhode Island voters will have the privilege of saying whether they wish to change to biennial State elections or prefer to continue the present system of annual elections. A constitutional amendment to that effect will then be voted on and if it is adopted Massachusetts will be the only State left in the Union electing a Governor every year. The fact that this election is to occur has been lost sight of and would have been almost forgotten in the State itself had not the Democrats begun a campaign against it. As usual they are appealing to the corrupt voters in the State and are trying to convince them that if the change is made they will not find politics so profitable as in the past. What is called the Citizens' League is also against the amendment. The Republicans, however, are in favor of it, and hope that they will cast enough votes for it to secure its adoption. But they will have to show more interest in the matter than they have if the voters are to be brought to the polls.

To Build Up

The system, I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla a splendid tonic. I had the grip four times, and the prostration combined with severe headaches, stomach troubles and dyspepsia made me a very great sufferer. I was very weak and run down. I have used six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and cannot praise it and Hood's Pills enough for the wonderful benefit they have been to me." MRS. LIZZIE JACKSON, Scituate Centre, Mass.

SYRACUSE CONVENTION.

An Abstract of Perry Belmont's Speech.

An Immense Crowd in Attendance at the Convention.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Democrats found a clear sky and a roseate atmosphere and a big crowd when they turned out this morning. The situation was about the same as last night. Candidates were just as numerous and just as confident. State Democrats were just as sure that they would be admitted and Tammanyites were equally sure they would not make room for them. Everybody was satisfied that the crucial plank would be as broad as the Brooklyn bridge and as for the future of the party it never looked more rosy to Democratic eyes.

The streets of Syracuse were filled with people during the early morning hours and hotels jammed. Tammany headquarters had a banner swung across the street from the Vanderbilt house, and the lobbies of the principal hotels were plastered with signs announcing where certain candidates had headquarters.

Alhambra Hall, in which the convention met, was soon in readiness for the fray. The immediate figures in the hall were Perry Belmont, Senator Hill and Governor Flower. Belmont's presence was the most conspicuous. He was the guest of honor at a breakfast given by the Onondaga County Democracy at the Yates Hotel, and was the first to arrive at the hall. Hill and Flower arrived together and were the last to enter the hall. Belmont's appearance was the signal for a demonstration. He was cheered to the echo as he walked down the aisle to the platform. Hill's entrance was the signal for a storm of cheers, which lasted for several minutes. Flower received a similar ovation.

Belmont struck the first keynote of the convention when he said: "Democrats of New York, we are here to-day to declare ourselves in favor of honest money, and we are here to declare ourselves in favor of tariff reform. Democrats who are not for honest money and tariff reform cannot be Democrats. We are here to declare ourselves in favor of honest money, and we are here to declare ourselves in favor of tariff reform. Democrats who are not for honest money and tariff reform cannot be Democrats."

Mr. Belmont's Address.

Mr. Belmont, after a brief reference to the organization of the convention, said: "We are here to declare ourselves in favor of honest money, and we are here to declare ourselves in favor of tariff reform. Democrats who are not for honest money and tariff reform cannot be Democrats."

In February, 1885, it was Democratic President Grover Cleveland who, when he also demanded the payment and final extinguishment of the constitutional greenbacks.

When a Republican congress in 1890 had inserted in the Sherman law the several features of legal tender Greenbacks, Treasury silver purchasing and Treasury bank redemption, it was the New York Democratic speaking Governor Hill in Brooklyn as early as 1890 that sounded the death knell of the commercially makeshift which has created $750,000,000 of new greenbacks now drawing out by perpetual redeeming our stock of gold which is the only exportable money we have. It was the New York Democratic State convention of Sept. 1891 which first denounced and the New York Democratic state convention of February 22, 1893, which repeated the denunciation of the Sherman law as a failure, whose denunciation reappeared in the Democratic national platform as a cowardly makeshift. Today everybody advocates in the language of the New York Democratic platform of twenty-two years ago a currency as good as gold.

At 1:50 the convention adjourned till 10 a. m. tomorrow.

MUCH IN LITTLE

"Much in little" this sentence means it has almost become a proverb, because the expression can be used in so many instances. In no instance however, can this saying be used with greater propriety than in speaking of Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. There is indeed much in a little vial of them—there is a cure for many a headache—relief from dyspepsia, biliousness constipation, colic and piles and restoration to health and happiness. Much good in little space

From All Parts of Maine Gather in Bangor.

Representative Business Men Attend Seventh Annual Meeting

Of State Board of Trade, Which Commenced on Tuesday.

Excellent Addresses and Papers on Important Subjects.

Brilliant Banquet and Eloquent Speeches at Bangor House.

Glowing Words Uttered for the Good Old Pine Tree State

Gov Cleaves Present and Spoke for the State of Maine.

The session of the State Board of Trade in this city yesterday was a marked success in every particular. There was an excellent representation of the various Boards through out the State, the programme of speeches was a most profitable and entertaining one, the banquet was a very pleasing affair and all details for the entertainment of the visiting delegates were carefully looked after by the local committee

The State Board meeting was held in the handsome Board of Trade rooms in City Hall with a large attendance of delegates. The rooms were tastefully decorated with ferns, palms and evergreen, the president's desk contained a beautiful bouquet and flowers were placed on the secretary's and reporters desks

As quite a number of the delegates from away were not to arrive until 3.0 the time of beginning the meeting was delayed until about 3.45, when it was called to order by Hon Henry Lord of this city, president of the State Board

President Lord said that it was very gratifying to see so many delegates present from the remote parts of the State Bangor was glad to see them and he hoped that the delegates would be glad that they came. He said in part as follows "We are glad to Mr Lord then in a few pleasing words introduced Mayor Snow to deliver an address of welcome

Address of Welcome by Mayor Snow

Mr President and Members of the Board of Trade

In behalf of our citizens I welcome you to our midst I assure you we look to appreciate the honor you confer upon us in selecting Bangor as the place for holding your convention I would not presume to come without solicitation for I am free to confess we went at this matter in a diplomatic way We are aware that impressions formed of a place are often encouraged or discouraged by the class of delegates sent abroad so then we made a careful selection from our local Board and sent a delegation headed by the late lamented Hon Henry Lord, your honored president of whom we are all proud Just what line of argument he took I am not for my self so sensibly they told you that you would come to the home of as noble a man as ever graced the bench, Chief Justice Peters also to the home of our able congressman Hon Charles A. Boutelle who is always ready and willing to do all in his power to advance the interests of all citizens of the state I might name scores of others but I realize you are here to listen to more sole men than myself so I will cut my remarks short I do wish to say a few words about your Association Ever since I was a boy I have heard and read of the loyal men I use who went to the war in the service to preserve this glorious Union I look upon the members of this Association as the loyal men of 95 who are expending their time, money, that the resources of the state of Maine may be developed and that every legitimate step may be taken to advance the material welfare of every citizen in it

I promised to be short in my remarks so will now close by saying our citizens are pleased to have you with us and I am sure it will be their aim to make your stay pleasant as well as profitable

The roll call was the next in the order of business on the programme and it showed the following Boards of Trade to be represented Portland, Bangor, Biddeford Bath Auburn, Augusta Skowhegan Waterville, Ellsworth Saco, Lewiston Brunswick, Belfast, Westbrook Rumford Falls, Gardiner and Old Orchard

Upon motion of Mr Richborn, of Augusta the following committee on credentials was appointed by the chair Messrs Hichborn, of Augusta, Pearl, of Bangor, and Merrill, of Portland

State Secretary N M Rich stated that Ellsworth, Kenebunk, Rumford Falls Thomaston and Old Orchard had made application for membership

A vote of the State Board was taken and all were voted in

Secretary Rich then read his report of the last State Board meeting in Portland it was accepted and ordered on file

He next read his semi annual report which was accepted and ordered on file It was as follows

Secretary's Report

To the Officers and Members of the State Board of Trade

I beg respectfully to report there it at this time nominally twenty four boards accredited in membership with this organization, against eighteen a year ago and twelve two years ago. The actual enrollment exhibit about 2 061, an increase of about 200 as near as can be calculated with the constantly varying membership of the several boards

The re are still but few boards that continue to pay annual assessments promptly and regularly, though delinquents have been notified at least twice a year of their assessments Such delinquencies appear to be confined principally to apathetic boards

I have received since my last annual report,

Being a total of	$142 90

All of which has been paid to the treasurer.

The general certificates for collection of annual dues have been supplied to all boards in membership as applied for, amounting to over one thousand the past year.

A new and revised edition of the Constitution and By Laws has been published this year, which can be had on application to the secretary at this desk or by mail.

The Bureau of Statistics has not had favorable response to the request made to boards for lists of leading industries and specialties in the various localities of the seven boards of the state, which it is still believed would be of great advantage in calling attention and creating demand from abroad, if properly tabulated and more widely advertised. But this bureau has done considerable in the way of collecting and distributing information to tourists and summer visitors entering the state, as to the routes, resorts cottage and farm property, or lands and cabbage sites generally, also lake, stream and forest sporting regions, what fines does the business man owe the community

If it is by community, or that state or condition of society that an open door is before him to engage in a business that suits his inclination and taste surely he owes something to that community that has made possible his attainment of responsible and honorable position in the human family He cannot by virtue of his mysterious train of circumstances been built within the past year or two, life of every man and when may have elevated himself to follow whose ideals a pick or carry on a hod blamelessly with competency and Cain like And I my brother's keeper?

Since he has voluntarily assumed a position that entails certain obligations to the community in which he lives it is incumbent on him to perform those duties with sincerity and spontaneity born of a faithful study of the position he occupies on the great stage of human activities He cannot ignore the great fact that he stands on a higher level in the great affairs of life than many around him and that his life and success have a far reaching influence, and should be a pattern safe to follow

That he should be a christian man I think none will dispute That he should be a member of a church of my selection I do not insist on This matter is in individual preference to choose for him self that all men there must be enough that a man need not be perplexed in making a selection to his liking All well organized churches do not specialize community loyalty and a hearty co operation in all its various branches of christian work

The stereotype phrase cant the man who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before is to the business man and the community right full expects of him that He the man to be received in the well improven his opportunities and by discreet and true study to make every section of the various businesses by opening new businesses or in which others can enter and achieve for themselves competency and honor

It this age of sharp competition the business man is strongly tempted to swerve from the strict principles of business integrity and double and square and it cannot and even be The time honored custom of temptation to sell by false goods and that are too many examples of a week kneed character diplomatic though it be Such lapses from the best business methods are offense against the community by deliberate act of the man who does such methods and it is business but all others who room in the same boat with the delinquent who refuses to disown his moral with a stain per cent of cheaper ability will be a stigma upon the whole and by strict fidelity to his peculiar work In all departments of industrial and commercial pursuit where decent and that continuing pitch of honesty adheres it not to the direct interest of manufacture but the community in which they live

Unfair business methods in which the great temptation of the day lies and which are not enterprise Enterprise is a magnificent word in the vocabulary of men there it leads to the light of a barnacle on the bottom of a ship and under the inspiration of the world's best art and science who new that it is a sin to revolutionize the business world With unerring skill and check they are on for the form a syndicate for the small traders to the skill and inspiration special business there is millions in it Not a few real estate men have been caught in this alluring bait and specious trap to lily called empty

The enterprise that the town or man owes the community is not that which is built hastily but that which is based and built up by own deserving but rather true business enterprise is the enterprise of large liberal and enlightened views humanity reinforced with true manhood and the opportunities that leads on to fortune

The business man is a representative and as such he is entitled to be to represent his town or city in a manner that will command the respect of those with whom he comes in contact He has the power to greatly promote the interests of his own municipality by correct deportment when abroad or on the other hand to disgrace and cast obloquy upon it

The manufacturing business man is more nearer in touch to the community and has much almost any other craft town in the business world All over New England in village and city these little communities exist, generally true the character of the basin as every true and free spirit of some man who has left on a welfare a manner or down a wave of it These communities are in large measure the ideal of the public opinion must It requires no profound statement of argument to prove the close fraternal relationship that should exist between employer and employee under such condition His employees are just as much a necessity as his capital They can be systematic his capital cannot He is not but one hundred cents on the dollar A dollar's worth of labor pays in certain cases of his business he is worth one dollar If he is wise he will maintain this close relationship with his employees that will win their respect and love and foster generous relations to him when he most needs their sympathy and aid

The minister is rightfully expected to be the best man of his parish In fact he is the best man of the community that he has gathered around himself and his influence is felt in the moral welfare of his community he certainly should be a pattern worthy to be followed In all the moral reforms and efforts of society for the general uplifting of the people the church the school the public library and the cultivation of social graces he should be an active worker and a zealous promoter

In the sorrows and joys of his community he should share Over the dead bed of John's wife who is to her was an angel he may drop a sympathizing tear and send flowers to the funeral without leaving a tear on his dignity Tom has been sued by somebody and the two 88 at the top of the wan scarce him simple to death His pert ideal spirit is soothed and quieted, and a mountain of care rolled off him by the comforting words of his employer who says, Don't worry Tom, I'll look after your case Joe has been sick for long weary months His sunshine that was in his heart has turned to darkness His ren is behind The doctor's bill is more powerful than his medicine Wait stars him in the face and he dreams of the poorhouse Our manufacturer says Cheer up Joe there's better days coming and I am going to raise your pay while you get at work Again Joe gets up in the morning and finds a wife crisp bill with two figures on it that is powerful to cheer Bill wants to build a house, is home for unselfish and family He's saved enough to buy a lot but is afraid if he mortgages it to build he may lose the whole So he dreams Bill says our manufacturer and build your house and pay a monthly per cent of your wages and I'll see that you are not oppressed

Dick wants something that is impossible to grant He is a manufacturer must now say no It may be the hardest thing he has had to learn to do, but it must be done and quickly or too Strict business methods acquire it Success in business is contingent upon it in many cases If our manufacturer always says yes to all the requirements made upon him and does as everybody wants him to do he will die in the poorhouse If he has learned the art of saying no Dick will go far in the other feeling that no request has been granted although he knows it has to

I like to hear him on this and kindred questions of the complex problems of human society that with the experience of the century at close threshold we may still hope for a better understanding, the relations and duties the human to his fellows to the community

The paper was discussed by Hon B B Thatcher, who said that every business man ought to use his capital in his own community and State so far as he could That within a few years it had been the custom to invest it in the West and South and much money had been lost by investors Now the spirit was being engendered to invest at home

He spoke of the importance of the pulp manufacture and the Bangor and Aroostook railroad as distributing new enterprise

President Rogers, of the Bath Board of Trade spoke of the ship building interests of the State is now in process of evolution He referred to the yacht interests and the status who went from Maine to man the Defender as worthy of praise

Mr W W Merrill, of Portland laid particular stress upon the duty which every business man owes to public service

Capt H N Burbanks of this city, said that we ought to have that neighborly feeling which people had in the colonial times and he agreed with Mr Merrill regarding the public service of the business man

Senator Manson of Somerset county said that we owed something to our neighbors besides what was our own special interest

An address was to have been given by Col A S Pinge of Augusta upon What the Community Owes the Business Man but he was unable to be present and there was a general discussion on the subject

Judge Savage of Auburn was called upon and said that the community as made up of individuals was too little aware that it knew anything about this question One sure test of the value of success among business men is the fact that they are not ass isted by the community That place is the best in which the people hang together for mutual good The Boards of Trade are helping matters along

Col Nealley of Lewiston agreed with Judge Savage and advocated the working together of the business men and community

State Secretary Rich said that a portion of the community lose sight of the business men and do not realize what they owe to them

Hon W J Homer of Waterville, thought the community owes everything to the business man He made special mention of the city of Waterville as an example referring to its industries which had been built up by business men He said it made a great difference whether or not the community looks with favor upon business

Hon Waldo J Stengil of Rumford, was called upon to give some facts concerning Rumford Falls He said that four years ago last winter the woods were cut down where the town now stands The first building was constructed three years ago last April The town has 2 500 inhabitants at this time Board of Trade and the people have $80,000 deposited in the bank

Address of Hon D F Davis

The address of Hon D F Davis of this city, was upon the subject, The Forests of Maine, Their Present and Future Value to the State. He said that the forest interest was a most valuable one inasmuch as all that it does for us and it was so in every country We have here 13,568 000 acres of timber land as much as that of the entire German empire

The value of our timberlands is $34 250 000 He cause for Maine having the greatest lumber power of any State in the Union is the forests which keep up the average of rain fall in the state to the best advantage It is much that the mean is not less than 40 inches per annum as shown carried to maturity It has invested more money in the State of Maine than it has taken out It has not been an injury to the savings banks and building and loan associations because it has given them over out of the State and it has largely created its own town so that for the institutions to become established The $100 000 quarterly fund does guarantee but it is and expenses and it did not borrow money at 6 per cent to put it here when it can borrow it money at 4 per cent as they did not purchase $100 000 of stock which the members would have the use of for one year and a half for nothing That according to Mr Whitten's own showing the company could not have a deficit That his report which was intended to injure the business of the Association in Maine will be it cannot effect the condition of the association calculated to have the effect of encouraging the shareholders that they will sacrifice their holding and thus sustain great loss Mr Stewart trusts that Hon B. B. Thatcher the new bank president will accept the invitation tendered to him to make a personal examination and fix the bonds of the public Governor and Council that who is selling the truth

It was voted that the salary of the State Secretary be $500 the same as before

Messrs W I Haines of Waterville, W W Merrill of Portland and William Rogers of Bath were appointed a committee on resolutions to report later

Reply to Bank Examiner Whitten's Report.

In the letter given out by President Stewart of the Granite State Provident Association of Manchester N H in reply to the report of Bank Examiner Whitten of Maine, he summarizes his case as follows The association is solvent It can carry out its contracts It can meet its obligations at the time estimated Its expenses do not average more than 2 4 10 per cent per annum on shares carried to maturity It has invested more money in the State of Maine than it has taken out It has not been an injury to the savings banks and building and loan associations because it has given them over out of the State and it has largely created its own town so that for the institutions to become established The $100 000 quarterly fund does guarantee but it is and expenses and it did not borrow money at 6 per cent to put it here when it can borrow it money at 4 per cent as they did not purchase $100 000 of stock which the members would have the use of for one year and a half for nothing That according to Mr Whitten's own showing the company could not have a deficit That his report which was intended to injure the business of the Association in Maine will be it cannot effect the condition of the association calculated to have the effect of encouraging the shareholders that they will sacrifice their holding and thus sustain great loss Mr Stewart trusts that Hon B. B. Thatcher the new bank president will accept the invitation tendered to him to make a personal examination and fix the bonds of the public Governor and Council that who is selling the truth

The above cut produced by the Bangor Engraving Company represents the Sault Ste. Marie pulp mill, of which Mr F H Clergue is the promoter and general manager. The New York Paper and Trade Journal of recent date refers to this project as follows

"American capital and industry, American push and enterprise and American grit and invincibility on Canadian soil are oddities of the rarest type. Such are the conditions there. The bone and sinew of the States are lodged with a stintedness and grandeur of purpose at the Canadian Soo, otherwise known as Sault de Ste. Marie. In the construction of probably the largest paper and pulp mill plant in this world. The last link has now its counterpart, while all of the great paper producing sections of the Union, East, West and Central, or North and South are not represented familiar with this plant, although their combined interests may be greater or more far reaching in effect.

This afternoon I called upon F. H. Clergue, president and general manager of the prosperous companies, at the Canadian Soo. He is a pleasant gentleman, with a frank, determined confidence which bespeaks an indefatigable life A few moments' chat with him shows his metal, a little tour about the establishment displays his method. Both are faultless and impregnable The other members of the company are presumed to remain incog, but as a matter of fact are generally known in the American trade, where they exert an influence and a commercial sway which are honored and esteemed by their brethren. However Mr. Clergue is the head of the concern He has erected a neat residence of fine architectural taste near the nearly completed mill, and is bestowing the best attentions that an experienced business man can give.

"The plan under course of construction is a pulp mill, and a splendidly complete and representative one at that. Half of the mill will be ready for operation next month, while the entire mill will be completed in a few months. Machinery, to a great extent, is in position, and there is every pulp indication that product will be finished within thirty days from date. This mill alone will have a capacity of 200 tons a day and a water power equal to 50,000 horse power, undoubtedly the finest fact this extant in any part of the world under substantially similar circumstances. At present the work is nearing consummation, and the second floor of the stone structure is up, and already it presents a commanding appearance. The construction is of steel and sandstone, which is quarried on the immediate site of the mill. It greatly resembles red granite or Bedford Buff and makes good building material. Between 600 and 1,000 workmen are employed, and by the end of this week the principal part of the labor will have been finished. Within a few paces the company manages and controls its own sawmill, while within a stone's throw is located the company's own machine shops. Every facility for rapid work is at hand and the equipment is minutely complete. In short, work has been in progress only a few short months, and this instance of swift labor will prove a record breaker in this country.

"The interest is unquestionably the interesting department. There can be found twenty-four American turbine water wheels. Twenty-four additional water wheels will be placed in the duplicate plant adjoining, which, in short, will be simply a part of the main pulp mill, forming in all a grandly equipped plant. The water from Lake Superior rushes through an immense canal constructed by the Government, later sold to the Canadian Soo, and in turn transferred to the paper company It flows full till into the wheels and through the basement, unrestrained, unimpeded, into the waters next to be mill This latter channel, once routed through solid rock, is now about completed, the latter part of this week witnessing the finish. It will contain fully twenty-feet of water, and will afford free entrance to either Lake Superior or Lake Huron for tugs and vessels Thus the water facilities, in addition to the Canadian Pacific Railroad facilities, will complete a system of transportation par excellence.

"Original to the last degree is the water power plan of the company. There is not another like it in existence, nor will there be another until the company completes its American adjunct across the river. From the grinders above the pulp falls into stuff chests, and by gravity is delivered to the screens, thence by gravity into the second series of stuff chests, and from thence is transferred to the wet machines. The process is as simple as the alphabet, and needs only to be followed out for a complete understanding."

Forest Fires

Our Winn correspondent writes It is very dry here and forest fires are getting in their destructive work Monday the island in the Penobscot in the rear of the residence of George S and Thorndike A Rancy was burned over, destroying a large stock of hay The oats, a large quantity of them raised on the island this season, were hauled off Monday afternoon the barn on the Ellis Lyons' place on the Lee road about two miles east of Winn village was burned down with its contents, about nine tons of hay, beans, oats and all the grain product of the place and also a pig It was with great difficulty that the house was saved a little distance from the barn. The woods all round were on fire and fences were burned up

The fire came from some fires made by the Emersons on another road, set I think on the 15th inst and allowed to spread Mr. Lyons and wife are quite aged and Mrs Lyons, a sister of Eli Hanson, is a hard worker and they deserve much sympathy in their loss The farm buildings adjoining owned by James Rice and also one adjoining them owned by W L Scribner are in danger. There was no water in the well or about there to put out the fire and it had to be hauled from the river, two miles distant.

A fire on Friday last burned up a lot of fence on the side of S. E Gates' farm and ran over the fields all gaining very largely.

Browning Recital.

Of one of Mrs. Robson's Browning recitals, the president of the Boston School of Oratory says: "From the first she completely held the audience, and the interest grew to the close. She is gifted with magnificent presence, a face that lends itself readily to the delineation of passion, and a voice of remarkable range and of very sympathetic quality." Tickets for Mrs. Robson's recital of "Pippa Passes," Thursday evening, may be had of either of the patronesses named in the advertisement or at the Y. M. C. A.

The Banquet

In the evening the Bangor House was thronged by representative citizens from all parts of the state who passed the time before the banquet very enjoyably in discussing various matters and making new acquaintances and renewing old ones It was an interesting scene which the hotel office presented early in the evening and a much more interesting and attractive scene was that of the banquet rooms shortly after

Florist Beers and his force had been hard at work in the dining rooms in affecting a transformation scene, while the forces of Messrs Chapman & Son had been busily engaged in other quarters in preparing the magnificent spread which was to be enjoyed by the guests of the Bangor Board of Trade The results of the labors of both were eminently satisfactory and pleasing and many were the remarks of a complimentary nature which were made by the visitors, who were loud in their praise of the hospitality of the Bangor Board and of the success of the landlords of the hotel

of the banquet hall were beautiful and elaborate and reflected great credit upon Florist Beers In the large dining room the ceiling was festooned with laurel interwoven with choice flowers The chandeliers were draped with smilax and roses were suspended in bell shape The mirrors and mantels were banked with ferns and palms and the musicians were screened by large tropical palms At the head table, the Goverdor's table, were three large centerpieces of LaFrance and bride roses lily of the valley and maiden hair ferns

On the same table were elegant bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley On the other five tables were 2o centerpieces of jacqueminot roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair ferns with climbing asparagus and smilax around the floral pieces At each plate some 200 in all, was a boutonniere The small dining room and another room across the hall were similarly decorated 400 pounds of festooning being used in all

The March

Gen H T Mitchell, who is eminently fitted for such a duty, was selected as marshal and about 9 30 o'clock the procession was formed for the pleasureable trip to the banquet hall inspiring music being rendered by Wasgatt's orchestra which played finely during the evening The procession was a dignified one and there was no unseemly haste although there was a look of expectancy in the eyes of each and every mother's son

Councillor Shepard and Col F K Stetson also sat at that table

The menu was one of Messrs Chapman's best which means that its excellence was of the finest quality and the most bounteous quantity The service was very prompt and efficient and great credit is due to Head Waiter Biggins and his corps of assistants The choice musical programme rendered by the orchestra under the leadership of Dr O E Wasgatt was an additional source of pleasure

With the completion of the service of the bounteous dishes of the menu, the post prandial exercises were in order, after cigars had been lighted and the guests wore an expectant look as C S Pearl, Esq called the assemblage to order and introduced Hon E C Ryder as toastmaster with a few pleasing and very fitting words exending a hearty welcome and a wish that all might enjoy themselves He was sure that he voiced the sentiment of the Board of Trade when he said he felt proud of their presence

Mr Pearl said that not long ago a man came to Bangor from a neighboring town a gentleman and a scholar and it gave him great pleasure to introduce Hon E C Ryder

Mr Ryder said he did not understand why the committee went out of the circle of business men for one to preside when there are within that circle so many men so well fitted for the position

The only satisfactory conclusion he had reached was that the committee could not find anybody else who would consent to act He was reminded of how delicately it was suggested to him that he was not expected to make a speech While those occasions are attended with a great deal of pleasure, and sociability they are not the prime object which really is the development of the State and her resources He called upon Governor Cleaves to respond to the toast "The State of Maine speaking in very complimentary terms of the Governor

Governor Cleaves Remarks

Governor Cleaves was received with prolonged applause and three hearty cheers and a "tiger" He said that in the first place he wanted to thank the Board of Trade for the invitation extended to him and the Council to be present upon the occasion He intended to go upon the trip to Aroostook Wednesday

He desired to congratulate the Board upon its grand organization and its influence throughout the State, impressing upon the people by the discussions the great advantages of investments in the State of Maine Let every citizen of the State magnify the community in which he lives and let every city and town cultivate a spirit of fair competition Let every man stand out fearless in his loyalty to the interests of the State of Maine and her institutions

Your business institutions are as stable as the laws under which they rest. Protect your home industries and let those at a distance take care of themselves. The tide has turned and men are directing themselves to investments in this State

Remarks of Hon Henry Lord

Hon Henry Lord was the next speaker called upon to respond to the toast "The State Board of Trade" Mr. Lord said it was the case of a business man following two able and bright lawyers He spoke of the formation of the State Board of Trade, at which time the men who had money to invest were sending it South, West and elsewhere. Money was flowing out in one continuous stream and much of it never came back

Now Maine men are investing their capital in Maine, some capital is coming in from outside, the Maine boys are staying here and some are returning from other States. Since this Board was organized, he believed more money had been invested in Maine than before. He claimed that the change of sentiment had been brought about largely by the State and local Boards. People are beginning to speak of their State as they would of the members of their own family. We are beginning to believe that we have the best of everything in Maine.

The change of sentiment in the past few years has been wonderful and let us keep at it booming the advantages of the State of Maine. The people of other States have come to Maine for the sailors for the Defender and even to fill many positions and they might come to Maine for the candidate for the Presidency.

Mr. Ryder announced that Senator Hale was to have responded to a toast on the "Navy" but he was unable to be present and had sent a letter which he would read

Mr Ryder then read the letter which was as follows

Washington, Sept 24 1895

Dear Sir—I am very much obliged to you for your kind invitation to be present at the banquet of the Board of Trade at Bangor on the evening of the 25th inst but I am sorry to say that I shall be unable to be present I am very much obliged to you for your kind invitation

Yours truly
EUGENE HALE

Mr Ryder said that Senator Hale was a man who was always ready to do a favor for Maine and he was sorry that he could not be present

Hon C L Adams' Remarks

"New England, its Business Interests" was responded to by Hon C L Adams, of Lowell, Mass, president of the Massachusetts Board of Trade He began by thanking the Board for its invitation to be present and then said he was much pleased to hear the advantages of Maine so well spoken of He agreed with Governor Cleaves about the booming of each community in which a man lives

He had been much pleased to see the flags waving over the school houses as he came to the city He believed firmly in the success of New England but there must be some thought by business men about the shipping into this country of goods which we can make ourselves It has been said if we do not buy of them they will not buy of us, but people buy where it is of advantage to do so He did not want to live in a country where they paid 30 or 40 cents a day In closing he advocated that every business man do his share in the public service and spoke of the good work of women's clubs

Remarks of Hon A. R Savage

"Our guests" was responded to by Hon A R Savage, of Auburn who said they were glad to come to Bangor She is the pride of Maine She has been the lumber queen and gathered in much wealth He pledged the toast "The Queen City of the East," and hoped she would have peace, prosperity and plenty

Remarks of W W Stetson Esq

State Superintendent of Schools W W Stetson responded to the toast "Our Public Schools, the Pride of Our State He said that it was a pleasure for him to stand there as the representative of the common schools and related a humorous incident which created much laughter He believed in the common schools for the business men A man who has an education is never satisfied to live in the way an ignorant man would do Education means prosperity and he desired that the people should take more interest in the common schools Help counsel, sympathy and interest were needed

Remarks of Hon Edward Wiggin

Hon Edward Wiggin, of Presque Isle responded to the toast "The County of Aroostook" He said that agriculture and commerce are the twin industries upon which the prosperity of our State rests The hope of the State rests largely upon our rural homes occupied by a prosperous and law abiding people The business of the farmer is producing, but that is of little avail unless the products be well handled, distributed and marketed Affairs in the State of Maine are in good hands He said they would on Wednesday see Aroostook only a few years from the stump but teeming with prosperity

He assured them of a warm welcome and told them to take what they wanted, they would find nothing nailed down

Remarks of Hon Harrison Hume

The Shore Line Railroad—On to Calais was responded to by Hon Harrison Hume of Robbinston He said that the banquet, like everything Bangor does, was done well and she always gets there He said that at last the light has dawned upon the Shore Line and that within two years the Shore Line company would extend an invitation to the Board of Trade to go over the line

He said there were many undeveloped resources along the route and named a number of the prominent places and attractions which would be developed by the road We don't how they can be developed until we try The Shore Line will give the people an opportunity to develop that region Maine has never looked for Presidential timber and the country is now looking to this State with that end in view

Remarks of E B Winslow Esq

The City of Portland was responded to by President E B Winslow of the Board of Trade who said that the Portland men were glad to come to Bangor and go to Aroostook and had attended the afternoon meeting The visit to the City Hall was appreciated and he thought it a credit to the city He said they were proud of Portland and of every city in the State We should hold out every inducement to people to visit our State

Remarks of C S Hichborn, Esq

"The City of Augusta" was responded to by C S Hichborn, Esq of Augusta, who spoke briefly but effectively of the attractions of Augusta "the chief city of Maine and the former home of the foremost statesman of modern times, James G Blaine

Remarks of George D Babbitt Esq

"The City of Lewiston was responded to by George D Babbitt, Esq He said that Maine had the brightest men in the world He thanked the Board for people of Lewis on for its generous hospitality

Remarks of Hon W T Haines

"The City of Waterville was responded to by Hon W T Haines. He said that Waterville was pre-eminent for bobbin boys, railroad engineers and Baptist missionaries and closed with some humorous reference which drew many laughs

The speeches were all interesting and the attention of the listeners was undivided during their progress

At the close of the toasts President Pearl called attention to the time of starting of the excursion to Aroostook this morning at 7 30 at the Maine Central depot and the assemblage was then adjourned

The following letters of regret were received from gentlemen away
